Service as Leadership

A Dialogue with Roopal Shah

November 21 (Saturday), 2009

Dialogue 2:30 to 4:00 p.m. • Reception 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Cal Poly Pomona Campus, Bronco Student Center, Ursa Major

In sharing her perspective on service as leadership, Roopal Shah will draw upon her ten-year experience as the Executive Director and Co-Founder of Indicorps, a non-profit organization. Indicorps strives to provide transformational service experiences to its volunteering fellows, encouraging them to engage their body, mind, and soul in leading change by example. Ms. Shah will discuss concrete ways in which young people can be challenged and inspired to take ownership of BIG questions, and to find answers by living their values.

Roopal Shah currently serves as the Executive Director of Indicorps (which she co-founded with her siblings Anand and Sonal) and is based in Ahmedabad, India. A graduate of Harvard University and the University of Michigan Law School, she practiced law for almost a decade—clerking for a federal district judge in Hawaii, practicing at a law firm in Washington, DC, and serving in San Diego for four years as a federal prosecutor (of major narcotics and alien-smuggling along the Southwest US-Mexico border). At Indicorps, she has been closely involved with all 10 fellowship classes. She loves sports (particularly surfing, volleyball, and tennis) and the power of service.

The program is co-sponsored by the Ahimsa Student Club.

Event is free. Pre-registration required by November 19
